Love Letters to my Roommate

Hi, my name is Ron Weasley. Fred and George bought this journal as a joke for me to "write about my Hogwarts years and all my secret girlfriends," as they put it, but I actually intend to do that. Well, not the girlfriends thing, necessarily, but my Hogwarts years.

I've heard talk that Harry Potter, the great wizard who defeated You-Know-Who as a baby, will be starting Hogwarts this year as well. That's exciting, but he probably won't notice me. I don't get noticed much. I doubt we'll even be in the same house. He'll probably be an immediate Gryffindor, and I'll be the first in my family to get anything but. I bet I'll be in Hufflepuff.

I wonder what decides my house. Fred and George have told me numerous things, but I don't believe it's as complicated as they make it seem.

I finally got to see Diagon Alley from a student's perspective today. I mean, all my books were secondhand, and I didn't get a new wand, but still. It's exciting to be starting.

I'll write more later, there's nothing to say, really. I should go start packing.

>AN: So this is the start of my story for a Rarry (Ron*Harry) ship, **__**Love Letters to my Roommate**__**. I'm going to start this off in the form of Ron's diary, but I have to see whether that works as a writing style for me. If I do plan to change it up, I'll let you know. Next chapter will be the train and meeting
Harry Potter. **_

_**Please review, I'm really waiting to see how this develops.
